ONE DEAD, ONE NEAR DEATH, AFTER CRASH

Two Women Burned in Auto-Truck Collision East of Marion.

Mrs. William L. Sontag, 51, died at 1:40 p. m. today at City hospital and a companion, Mrs. Roland Brown, 27, was reported critically burned and near death as the result of an automobile-truck collision about five miles east of Marion shortly before 10 a. m.

The accident occurred on Route 30-S just west of the place where Route 98 crosses Route 30, known as five points.

Clothing was burned from both women and their entire bodies were burned. Both women lived at 588 Uncapher avenue.

The accident occurred when the 1929 coupe, driven by Mrs. Brown, crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer truck owned by the Commercial Motor Freight of Marion and driven by Harold Stevens, 27, of 431 West Church street when the latter slowed down to speak to L. J. Stover and Rudy Schneider, both of Mansfield, who had pulled off the highway, highway patrolmen reported.

The coupe burst into flames when the gasoline tank exploded from the impact and the car was destroyed. They were pulled from the car by the men, Mr. Stover suffering minor burns. He was given first aid at the scene of the accident and later treated at the City hospital. The Marion Engineer Depot fire department was called and extinguished the fire.

The women were enroute to the home of Mrs. Sontag's brother, Neal Berridge residing about a mile east of Caledonia. Mr. Stevens was enroute to Mansfield. Mrs. Sontag was taken to the hospital in the M. H. Gunder & Sons ambulance and the Boyd & Uncapher ambulance removed Mrs. Brown to the hospital. Mrs. Sontag was a patient at the hospital a little more than a year ago when she suffered a broken hip.

The car belonged to Mrs. Brown.

Native of Southern Ohio

Mrs. Leona Berridge Sontag, wife of William L. Sontag, was born in the southern part of Ohio, and her marriage to Mr. Sontag was 35 years ago.

Surviving with her husband are a son, Russell of Youngstown, two sisters, Mrs. Blanche Russell of Youngstown and Mrs. Merle Rush of Marion, and four brothers, Neal Berridge of near Caledonia, Clyde of Cardington, Howard of Michigan and Ora of Columbus.

The body was taken to the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals on East Center street.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown have lived in Marion about a year, coming here from Bellefontaine.

Labor Leaders Threaten General Strike in Protest of New Law

Truman Calls NLRB To Talk Over Labor Law Enforcement

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—President Truman called in members of the national labor relations board today to discuss administration of the Taft-Hartley labor control law, enacted over his veto.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, when asked Mr. Truman's reaction to passage of the measure over his objections, replied:

"The President spoke his views in his veto message."

Ross said there was nothing to add.

Paul M. Herzog is chairman of the NLRB. The other members are John M. Houston and James J. Reynolds Jr.

Broad additional responsibilities are imposed on the NLRB by the new law, and senate Republicans said they are planning to give it more funds to administer these duties.

The senate, following the lead of the house, smacked down the veto yesterday by a vote of 68 to 25, six more than the required two-thirds majority.

The house three days earlier rolled up a crushing 331 to 83 margin to override Mr. Truman's disapproval of the Taft-Hartley measure—now law.

The act imposes far-reaching limitations on union activities, mainly by overhauling the Wagner collective bargaining act.

What Law Does

Among other things, the new law:

Sets up machinery designed to block "national paralysis" strikes;

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—Organized labor reacted angrily to the Taft-Hartley labor law today with wildcat strikes, threats of a general strike and pledges to fight them in the courts and congress.

Labor spokesmen also called for a vigorous political action drive to defeat congressional supporters of the law in the 1948 elections.

The labor reaction contrasted with the silence with which President Truman an dthe administration greeted the senate vote writing the bill into law over his veto. The senate voted 68 to 25 yesterday to override the veto three days after the house had done the same by a majority of 331 to 83.

Nationwide Picture

A nationwide survey of reaction to the senate vote gave this picture:

1. Soft coal miners, who are scheduled to stop work at midnight Friday and begin a vacation before their government contract expires, jumped the gun and closed mines in Alabama, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia and Eastern Ohio. Late reports placed the number of idle miners at more than 25,000.

2. The San Francisco CIO council asked CIO President Philip Murray to call at 24-hour general strike against the law; R. E. Parr, district president for 30,000 United Steel Workers (CIO) in the southeast, predicted that the law would provoke a general strike by 90 per cent of organized labor.

3. AFL President William Green announced that the AFL would immediately open a drive for repeal of the law and predicted that supporters of the bill would be defeated in the 1948 elections. Sam Eubanks, vice president of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO), urged the guild to put more emphasis on a program to "send labor representatives to congress."

4. Democrats, assessing the effects of the overridden veto on their party, saw it variously as an incident that would weaken or strengthen their party for the 1948 election campaign.

5. Henry Wallace's Progressive Citizens of America said Mr. Truman's failure to sustain the veto was "the most tragic in a long list of failures" to carry on the program of the late President Roosevelt.

6. In Detroit, Robert H. Keyes, president of the Foremen's Association of America, pledged a court test of the provision in the new law excluding foremen from the guaranteed bargaining rights of the national labor relations act.

7. Republican spokesmen warned the administration against "sabotage" of the law through inept administration. At the same time NLRB General Counsel Gerhard P. Van Arkel, resigned because of "grave doubts" over the workability of the law.

8. Earl O. Shreve, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

FARMER NEAR WALDO KILLED

Richard K. Gearhiser Found Dead Following Fall from Tractor.

Richard Kreider Gearhiser, 53, was killed early last evening when he fell from his tractor while plowing at his home a mile southeast of Waldo and was caught by the blade of the plow attached to the tractor.

State patrolmen stated that the body was dragged for approximately 675 feet while the driverless tractor circled the field three times, coming to a stop near the rear of the Gearhiser home at almost the identical spot where Mr. Gearhiser usually parked it.

He was plowing by himself and was working when his wife took him supper in the field at 5 o'clock, patrolmen said. The family wasn't alarmed at first when they saw the tractor sitting in approximately the usual spot, but later his daughter, Barbara, investigated and found the body at approximately 7 p. m. about 40 feet from where the tractor stopped.

Wheels Hit Ditch

Patrolmen who investigated found he had been thrown from the tractor when the front wheels of the machine struck a small ditch in the field and changed the course of the tractor throwing the driver off.

Dr. E. H. Morgan, county coroner gave a verdict of accidental death.

Mr. Gearhiser was born March 26, 1894 in Waldo township to John and Mae Kreider Gearhiser and was married April 9, 1917 to Miss Hazel Ackley, who survives. He was a member of St Paul Lutheran church at Waldo.

Surviving with the widow are two daughters, Mrs. Richard McCammon of near Galena, O., Miss Barbara Gearhiser who found the body and a brother Howard Gearhiser of Radnor.

Funeral Thursday

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary with Rev. S. C. Long, of Waldo officiating. Burial will be in Waldo cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 o'clock tonight.

OHIO MINERS OUT IN PROTEST

Production Cut Nearly Half as Workers Walk Out in Eastern Area.

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., June 24—Nearly one-half of eastern Ohio's coal production was shut-off today as 3,473 miners closed seven mines in protest of the passage of the Taft-Hartley labor bill over President Truman's veto.

Five other mines were closed because of a car shortage. Ten large mines are still operating in the eastern Ohio area.

Total production of the area is down from 54,000 tons daily to 20,000 tons per day.

Spokesmen for the miners last night said the stoppage began as men refused to report for the midnight shift because of resentment over the passage of the Taft-Hartley labor control bill.

At Columbus, United Mine Workers officials said they were not advocating a work stoppage at this time.

Production and work stoppage figures for the eastern Ohio area were given by Ford Sampson, secretary of the Ohio Coal Association, while a United Mine Workers spokesman reported a mine in Perry county closed in protest.

3,473 Men Reported Out

The Ohio Coal association figures show 3,473 men out in protest; and 1,082 men not working because of the coal car shortage.

Daily production average for the seven mines the association reports closed in protest is 26,500 tons and 8,000 tons per day in the five mines closed by car shortage.

The United Mine Workers reported the Jones Misco mine, employing from 400 to 500 men near Crooksville, was also closed in protest.

T. J. Price, secretary-treasurer for district 6 of the United Mine Workers, said in Columbus:

"The officers of the district are not advocating a cessation of work at this time.

"Instead of the Taft-Hartley bill reducing the burden of the mine workers, it adds to its burden—it makes it more difficult to improve the conditions the miners have a right to expect.

"The contract ends June 30. The

New Labor Law—What It Means

In one way or another the new labor law will touch the lives of millions of people and be argued about for years to come. It is highly complex.

To simplify it for the average reader, and explain the highlight, The Star today starts a series of six stories on the new law.

This series has been prepared by three specialists of The Associated Press' Washington staff.

HERBERT HOLDS TO SLOT RULE

Maintains Hands-off Policy in Regard to Indian Lake Complaints.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert continued today to maintain a hands-off policy on the reported presence of slot machines at Indian lake in Logan county despite editorial criticism.

"I notice the common pleas judge of Licking county had no trouble in stopping gambling in short order," the governor commented in a news conference after reading an editorial entitled "Open Season on Suckers" in the Springfield News-Sun.

"The prosecutor and sheriff cooperated with him. It's the same thing in Logan county."

The Springfield newspaper held in its editorial that the governor's previous hands-off stand so encouraged slots operators that the number of machines were doubled last week-end.

Says Writer Confused

"The writer of the editorial," said Governor Herbert, "seems to be laboring under the misapprehension the governor is all-powerful. He seems to be concentrating on my failure to act rather than the failure of action by local officials.

"They elect local officials to enforce police statutes."

Then the governor exclaimed: "I'm trying to encourage local

500 COUPLES AT POLICEMEN'S BALL

Visitors from Nearby Cities Are Among Guests.

More than 500 couples danced at the annual policemen's ball last night in the Crystal Lake ballroom to the music of Jerry Marshall and his 11-piece all-veteran orchestra.

Visiting police and state patrolmen were present from Mt. Vernon, Mansfield, Lima, Kenton, Bucyrus and Findlay.

Extra tables and chairs were placed in the outer promenade area and these as well as the regular booths circling the dance floor were filled.

Most of the women wore street-length dresses with a few wearing evening gowns. The only decorations were the vari-colored circular disks surrounding the ceiling lights. The orchestra was seated against a rainbow colored pleated back-drop arranged in a huge fan-like design.

Proceeds from the dance, held each year under the sponsorship of the local lodge of Fraternal Order of Police, are used for upkeep of the police-firemen's cottage at White's Landing on Shadusky Bay and also for maintenance of the police flying squad. City Firemen's Path Blocked 9 Minutes

City firemen were held up nine minutes by an Erie freight train only a stone's throw from a burning auto yesterday at about 5 p. m., Fire Chief Sifritt reports.

The motor of a car owned by John Dutton of LaRue caught fire when gasoline leaked from the carburetor onto the hot motor block. The car was in front of 217 North Prospect street.

When the tracks were cleared, the department found employes of the Isaly Dairy company had acted as volunteer firemen, extinguishing the blaze with a plant extinguisher.

YOUTH CLUB PLAN UP FOR DISCUSSION

Proposal To Be Considered at Legion Meeting Tonight.

An important meeting of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Legion Dugout. The proposition of establishing a club for boys and girls ranging in age from 18 to 21, will be discussed, it is announced.

While no definite plans have been made, the matter of establishing such a recreation center for young men and women of this age bracket, has been discussed among the members and also by boys and girls who would be eligible to attend the activities, and has met with more than favorable response, those interested in the movement state. There is a large group of young people who are not eligible for membership in Club Co-Ed, because of the age limit, and a club sponsored by such an organization as the American Legion would meet this need, those interested in the project believe.

It is hoped that there will be a good attendance at tonight's meeting for a discussion on the proposal.

A film supplied by the local recruiting office will be shown and there will be refreshments and a smoker following the meeting.

Flood Crests At New High

High Waters Strike Some Mid-Western Areas Third Time in Month.

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, June 24—New flood crests rolled down midwestern streams today, forcing large scale evacuation of low lying areas and heaping destruction on some sections for the third time in a month.

Behind the flood waters, residents of Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri repaired damages and cleared away debris, while ahead of the floods others moved to higher ground.

At Cambridge, in southwest Nebraska, where 13 persons were drowned in Sunday's flash flood, the search continued for four bodies. Nine already have been recovered. Two drownings near Miller, Neb., and a tornado death near Oxford, Neb., left Nebraska with a weekend toll of 16.

From Alma, Neb., farther east on the Republican river, came a report that the Republican river bridge at the site of the Harlan county dam went out and dikes broke, necessitating weeks of delay in construction of one of southwest Nebraska's principal flood control structures. The bridge was completed only Friday.

The weather bureau at Norfolk, Neb., issued a new flood warning late last night as two flood crests rolled down northeast Nebraska's Elkhorn river about 20 miles apart. The warning was directed at residents between Ewing, where the river started rising a second time, and Meadow Grove, about 50 miles downstream.

At Kansas City, Mo., Col. William E. Potter, district army engineer, estimated 63 levees along the Missouri and its tributaries between Rulo, Neb., and St. Louis would be breached as the high water moved downstream, bringing flooding to 100,000 acres not previously inundated. Seven other levees protecting 6,200 acres were threatened, he added.

The entire population of Agency in northwest Missouri was forced to evacuate when the Platte reached record high levels.

Herbert To Hear Both Sides on Labor Bill

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Arguments for and against the Van Aken labor control bill passed by the state legislature will be heard by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert in his office at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

The chief executive announced he had invited representatives of the Ohio Federation of Labor, the Ohio CIO Council and the Railway Brotherhoods to present views of organized labor. Representatives of business and industrial organizations were invited to present management's side.

"They will be given the opportunity to argue on the bill and the meeting will continue as long as necessary," the governor said.

The hearing is intended to help the governor decide whether to approve or veto the measure.

The Van Aken bill contains several features of the Taft-Hartley bill enacted by congress over President Truman's veto.

Gill Warns of High Fire Losses in Ohio

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Ohioans had a warning today from State Fire Marshal Ray Gill that unless "corrective steps" are taken immediately fire losses in the state would mount to alarming proportions in 1947.

Gill told Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's fire safety committee yesterday that fires caused an estimated $18,000,000 damage last year against an average annual loss of $10,000,000. Reports to date, he said, indicated another increase this year.

Who and When of New Labor Law Passed Over Truman Veto

(This is the first of six stories explaining the new labor law It tells the highlights of who's affected and how)

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 23 — America's new labor law, one of the most gigantic and complex ever passed, will apply to millions of workers.

They are the workers in industries and businesses which, in one way or another, are engaged in interstate commerce or affect interstate commerce

(This new law does not involve employes of railroads and airlines. They're covered by a previous, separate law, the railway labor act.)

This new law is a major turning point in the government's policy toward labor and management.

Under the Wagner act—passed in 1935 and until now this country's biggest labor law—there were restrictions on employers few on workers

But this new law puts plenty of restrictions on workers and unions.

No one can possibly predict the effects of all its provisions Not can anyone now say accurately what all the provisions mean

Big Job for Courts

The job of interpreting the meanings will have to be done by the federal courts Those courts probably will be busy for a long time to come

Because of this new law labor lawyers for unions and employers—have leaped into new importance overnight

Already the top legal brains of the unions are planning their strategy in attacking the law

Unions will create test cases by deliberately violating provisions of the law which their lawyers think are unconstitutional The new law's many parts do not go into effect all at once

Some went into effect immediately after the senate, following similar action by the house last Friday, repassed the labor bill into law over President Truman's veto

Some parts actually won't go into effect until 60 days after the day on which the senate repassed the vetoed bill into law.

Quick Summary

Without going into details, here is a quick summary of the main provisions of the new law which are in effect now:

Machinery for trying to prevent strikes that would cause national emergencies, a ban on jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts, with an employer permitted to sue for damages, violations of contract can be taken into federal court; union dues can't be deducted from paychecks automatically and welfare funds can't be created unless they conform to the rules laid down by the new law.

Three parts of the law which go into effect 60 days after the senate's vote overriding the veto are too many to list here But they include.

Prosecution of unions for unfair labor practices, a ban on further closed shop agreements, new curbs on political activities of unions, and creation of a new, enlarged national labor relations board to administer the law.

On that same day—60 days after the senate vote—the labor department's old conciliation service dies and is replaced by a new federal mediation and conciliation service

New Agency Set Up

The old conciliation service was part of the labor department. The new mediation service will be a separate government agency

Generally the purpose of the new agency—as it was of the old—will be to try to smooth out labor-management squabbles and solve them

The new law does not apply to supervisory workers, such as foremen They are not considered 'employes' under the act. They'll have none of the rights and duties covered by the act.

In short, they can join unions if they wish, but under the new law an employer is not compelled to bargain with them.

That part of the new law, which makes changes in the old law, the Wagner act, will not apply to people employed in agriculture or domestic service

Nor will it apply to the federal state, or local government employes, federal reserve banks, government corporations, and non-profit hospitals.

But here at the beginning of the life of the new law it is not possible to say positively which unions will be curbed by it and which won't

Unanswered Questions

Right at the start one of the big, unanswered questions is

Does it apply to the 1,500,000 organized construction workers and their unions, people like carpenters painters, bricklayers, plasterers?

Two things banned by the new law occur widely in the construction industry the closed shop and jurisdictional disputes.

(In a closed shop no one but union members can work A jurisdictional strike is intended to force an employer to deal with one union instead of another)

Until now most construction workers have not been under the government's labor law, the Wagner act

The national labor relations board, which has been administering the Wagner act, had not classed construction workers as being in interstate commerce

But the new and larger labor relations board, created under the new law, may change that because of the new law's ban on closed shops and jurisdictional disputes

Hospital Bed, Nurse Shortage Blamed on Poor Army Policy

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK, June 24 — The present shortage of hospital beds and nurses might have been avoided in part by enlarging civilian hospitals during the war rather than building army general hospitals, says Dr. Elliott C Cutler, Moseley professor of surgery at Harvard university

Writing in the American Journal of Surgery, Dr. Cutler, a retired brigadier general, questioned whether such general hospitals built at great expense, are needed.

"The Russians, whose injured vastly outnumbered ours, and the British did not do this. These countries provided such general hospitals as we did for overseas units, but in the home country they enlarged their civilian hospitals and added a few army doctors to help with the increasing load

Long-Range Intelligence

"The thinking behind this was intelligence of the long range type With the war over, money spent on increases to civilian hospitals gives direct benefit to all the people whereas our system of providing strictly army hospitals leaves us practically nothing. Had we utilized a similar plan, the grave shortage of hospital beds and nurses might not be such a nightmare now.'

Another step to avoid waste of medical personnel and materials in wartime, Dr Cutler said, would be "unification, under a single service, of all medical corps including army, navy, and air

"The conservation of medical, nursing, administrative and transportation personnel would be tremendous We would thus stop the silly and unnecessary reduplication of hospitals, supply depots, transportation facilities, et cetera."

Urges Civilian Consultants

Dr Cutler also urged the appointment, by leading medical and surgical societies, of expert civilian doctors and surgeons as consultants to the armed forces in peace as well as war. They could set up plans of organization and equipment and modify them yearly in light of advances in medicine, he said

Without cooperation between doctors, who know how men die, and the ordnance men who make weapons we shall not apply even the rudimentary principles of science to warfare, Dr. Cutler said

"We know little of what kills men on the battlefield, because no one has ever compiled a great story of large numbers of men found dead on the battlefield. We need teams of experts to conduct examinations of several thousand soldiers killed in battle under different conditions of comfort and in different terrains in order to know what weapons injure the greatest number of the enemy.'

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Disorder with Long Name

There are no more powerful chemicals than those the body manufactures for its own use That is why we get such strange and even bizarre diseases when one of these natural chemical plants misbehaves

Take the tiny bits of glandular tissue known as the parathyroids for instance Located in the neck just beneath the thyroid gland, these little glands form a secretion which empties directly into the blood stream where it controls the body's use of calcium or lime When too much of this secretion is formed, calcium is lost from the body wholesale, until even the bones are robbed of their chief constituent.

This disorder of increased secretion from the parathyroid glands is known as hyperparathyroidism It occurs twice as often in women as in men, according to Dr. Christopher John McLoughlin of Atlanta. It usually develops in adults but has been reported in children as young as twelve years of age

Hyperparathyroidism gradually starts with such symptoms as muscular weakness, loss of appetite, sickness to the stomach, fatigue, constipation, and pain in the bones These symptoms are probably due to an excessive amount of calcium, or lime, in the blood. Increased thirst, as well as the secretion of large amounts of urine, also are present.

The condition may affect the urinary tract causing pain, irritation of the bladder, and blood and pus in the urine Because the lime is taken from the bones, there are weakness, aches and pains in the joints, and loss of weight A broken bone may follow some slight injury

Laboratory examination is helpful in making a diagnosis of hyperparathyroidism There will be found an increase in the amount of calcium in the blood, with a lessening the amount of phosphorus in the blood There is also an increase in the amount of calcium and phosphorus in the urine. X-rays of the bones may show cysts or sacs containing fluid within the bone structures

Once the diagnosis is made, the treatment consists either in the removal of a tumor in the parathyroids responsible for increased secretion from the glands, or removal of some of the parathyroid tissue. X-ray treatment of the parathyroid glands has been tried but has not been found successful

It is encouraging to note that with the proper surgery, a complete cure of the condition results.

There's Bad News for Men, Too, In Changes in Women's Styles

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24—The ladies are in a dither. It isn't that prices are going up—it's that skirts are coming down.

The outbreak of a third World war would hardly stir such tumult in the feminine breast as has the news that, come fall, the style world has decreed longer dresses.

It has turned all America into a weeping wall for the ladies—but some of the tears are crocodile.

Hal Boyle

My wife has been in despair for weeks. So has every other woman we've met. The girls don't give a hangnail now about any other problem.

I didn't know what the trouble was at first. After Frances had been moping for several days, I said:

"I forgot just what I did, but I know it was all my fault, and I apologize."

"You didn't do anything," she said, then added with wifely caution—"at least not any more than usual."

"Then why are you going around looking like a Moose at an Elks' convention?"

"Haven't you heard the news?" That is the way wives always answer a question—by giving you one right back.

"You mean the Balkans, taxes or the labor fuss?" I asked.

She looked at me like I was a fugitive from a kindergarten dunce cap.

This Is News!

"I mean the news about women's clothes," she said witheringly. "You call yourself a newspaperman! Don't you know practically every woman in this country is worrying about skirts being longer this fall?"

"So what?" I parried. "They're always going up or down like a theater curtain. What if they get lower than the Pittsburgh Pirates? All you have to do is unroll 'em a few notches and baste in a few hems—or whatever you do with hems."

"Listen, Rover Boy," she said, "and I'll tell you a few facts about women's clothes."

Well, it seems that dresses are basically different from men's pants. Men's pants are built in one general shape that is good no matter what altitude you wear the cuffs. But women's dresses must be shaped in various ways, depending on how far the knees are to be above or below sea-level.

In recent years skirts have been pretty high—from 12 to 16 inches—and the dresses have been designed roughly to make the girls look like a geometry triangle standing on one leg.

You know—padded shoulders, slim waists and halfback hips.

But the changes soon coming will make milady—there's a fancy fashion term fresh out of 'Godey's Lady Book'"—look more like an underslung salt shaker. The stuffing is coming out of the shoulders in the new dresses, and it will be redistributed in a way to make them more comfortable in a theater seat. At least I believe that is the general picture.

Eight Inches From Ground

"And they will reach to within eight inches of the ground," Frances mourned.

I said it was about time anyway for a lot of knobby knees to go back in hiding, and that might be worth while to pay the necessary cover charge.

"You don't understand," said Frances. "Eighty-five per cent of the women don't want to wear dresses that long, no matter what their knees and legs look like. It just means they will have to throw away all their old dresses. They'll have to buy new slips, too, the old ones will be too short. There is no possible way to fix up your old things when the style changes that radically."

"Why, I said, waking to the real peril, "that will mean practically a new wardrobe for every woman in the country."

"Yes, said Frances, complacently. "Isn't it terrible?"

Now I'm in a dither. And you will be, too, brother, come the days of falling leaves. It's only the dresses they are lowering on the ladies. It's the boom they're lowering on us, bub!

BROMFIELD OPPOSES OHIO DILLON DAM

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., June 24—Louis Bromfield, Ohio's famed author and conservationist, entered the Dillon dam battle yesterday with the announcement he will appear this week in Washington before the house public works committee to urge the project's abandonment.

The announcement came in a telegram to Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio) stating Bromfield would "join in his battle" to have the multi-million dollar project "deauthorized."

Asserting the dam, if completed, would flood some of Ohio's "most fertile farmland," Bromfield declared in an interview it would "both be a fraud and a wasteful extravagance."

"The dam is not needed for flood control and certainly should not be considered from the conservation angle," the author insisted.

A hearing on the controversial project will be held Wednesday and Thursday before the house committee.

ANTI-TRUST RULING UPHELD BY COURT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—The supreme court yesterday upheld a U. S. district court ruling that E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, Inc., National Lead company, and Titan Company, Inc. have violated the Sherman anti-trust act.

Justice Burton delivered the court's 4-3 decision. Justice Douglas wrote an opinion dissenting in part. Justices Murphy and Rutledge concurred with Douglas. Justices Black and Jackson took no part in the case.

The decision was given on appeals from findings by the U. S. district court in New York City. The district court held the firms had combined to restrain foreign and domestic trade in titanium compounds which are used in making paint, paper, rubber, glass and other industrial products.

The district court held that the government, which had prosecuted the case, was entitled to a decree which would restore titanium to a "system of free competition."

The three companies and the justice department all appealed from the district court ruling.

School Superintendent Renamed in Dispute

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 24 — Dr. William A. Cook, over whom students of junior and senior high schools and one elementary school in the North College Hill community of greater Cincinnati, went on strike, will be reappointed superintendent of schools, it was announced yesterday.

Judge Chase M. Davies of probate court said he would reappoint Cook, whose contract will expire June 30. The term will become effective Aug. 1 and will be for three years.

The students in three schools in North College Hill quit their classrooms when a majority of the board of education, refused to reappoint Dr. Cook. The board resigned enmasse last weekend and Judge Davies assumed all its responsibilities.

In announcing his decision, Judge Davies said that "to defer the appointment until the next election might revive the controversies which have recently existed between board members concerning the superintendent."

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—The supreme court yesterday affirmed conviction of Admiral D... Adamson, a Los Angeles Negro for murder in the first degree in the killing of Mrs. Stella Blauvelt, 64-year-old widow.

Mrs. Blauvelt's body was f... July 25, 1944 in her Los Angeles apartment. She apparently had been beaten and choked to death with a lamp cord. The jury which convicted Adamson made no recommendation as to punishment, thus inflicting the death penalty.

Two Candles on the Cake

TWO years ago this week the United Nations charter was signed at San Francisco. Looking back over the intervening months, one can't help but feel pessimistic over UN's value in this world of harsh realities.

On the credit side of the ledger, however, are some favorable entries which have been overshadowed by larger, more ominous issues. For instance, after security council urging, Russian troops left Iran and the British and French evacuated Lebanon and Syria.

A new organization was formed to care for displaced persons, of whom the world still has more than 1,000,000. Nine territories with populations of more than 15,000,000 have come under UN supervision, and economic and social programs have been set up for 200,000,000 in non-self-governing territories. New Zealand has agreed to have UN investigate the status of 60,000 western Samoans to decide if they are ready for self-government. Great Britain has asked for UN aid in settling the Palestine problem.

Those are the principal items to UN's credit—not an impressive list, but tangible. The UN provides the wherewithal for a peaceful world assembly. The machinery of arbitration is in being. It can work if the world will have it work.

Russia Accepts

BY ACCEPTING the French-British invitation to sit in on the European reconstruction conference suggested by Secretary Marshall, Russia indicates she doesn't want to be dealt out of any hand the United States deals in Europe—not, at least, until she finds out what cards she draws.

After all, we have food and materials to export. Russia has only communism, which isn't filling for empty stomachs. Communist-dominated Hungarians and Romanians seeing western Europe lining up in Uncle Sam's chow-line while they get large bales of propaganda wouldn't help Soviet prestige in satellite states. If there are any handouts to be made under Marshall's European self-help plan, Russia wants to be sure the Communists get their share.

This, of course, is just a theory. Maybe Russia has decided to abandon its maverick role; maybe her delegates will become cooperative and eager to hasten the reconstruction of Europe; maybe Communist infiltrations have been instructed to halt thier foreign coups; maybe—let's go all the way—the workers' republic is contributing its iron curtain to a scrap metal drive. People can dream, can't they?

Beware of Inventories

HERE'S something that needs to be cleared up if the United States is going to take inventory of its resources for helping the rest of the world:

What should be measured, counted, weighed and evaluated?

The men pushing the inventory idea—Senator Vandenberg and Will Clayton, state department undersecretary—seem to think they can find out how much America can do by taking stock of tangible assets.

This might be like France taking inventory of the world's strongest army, deciding that France therefore was strong—and wondering a few months later how it could have made such a grisly mistake. Or it might be like the military experts who appraised Russia, decided Germany could overrun it in six months and are still eating their predictions.

It might be like the estimate that the United States couldn't fight its way out of a paper bag, an estimate subscribed to by the German and Japanese governments in 1941. There is not, unfortunately, any way to measure the only thing that matters in a showdown—what people want to do. Russians fighting in defense of their homeland are 10 times as formidable as they are supposed to be. Americans fighting in defense of freedom surprise even themselves. Such things as French devotion to personal liberty, Scandinavian discipline, Dutch thrift, British courage and humor can't be measured.

The capacity of the United States for helping the rest of the world can't be measured. This country's resources are limited only by the limits of its imagination.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Crop Not Likely To Be Enough for World.

WASHINGTON, June 24—The American food supply and foreign need have created just about an insoluble situation. We are trying to put a peg in an abyss.

Our crop prospects are good, but not anywhere near good enough. Our wheat outlook is bumper, but in a way it is all sold. We will have ample for ourselves and the rest (perhaps billions of bushels), will go to Europe. But our carryover from last year is one of the smallest on record. The average year holdover runs from 150 to 300 million bushels, whereas we have only a little over 75 million. So our normal bin is about half empty.

On the other hand, our spring planting of corn has suffered dismal destruction from the rain and cold. The corn belt, particularly Iowa, has been so thoroughly saturated with moisture that farmers even yet cannot get into some of their fields for replanting. This condition runs through Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio, Kansas and Nebraska, according to the experts who have been out over the ground. We had a late spring in the first place. Planting was delayed. Then came the wet. So we may not have enough corn for ourselves, and cannot now look forward to sparing much for the continent.

No Rice Shortage

There will be plenty of rice. We will ship much of that. But a peculiar situation makes the meat supply - and - export possibilities vague. Foreign buyers have been contacting supply agents here quietly the last few weeks, and have made future purchases. Their contracts are suspect, however, to discontinuance by the administration of export controls. Only such amounts as the government releases will go abroad. That is one reason for the recent price increase of beef, (the excess of commitments).

Pork supply is short. We had a heavy loss in spring pigs, caused both by weather and disease. Throughout the midwest the young pigs and sows died. Furthermore, the young sows did not produce well. They rarely do. All in all then, pig supplies are going to be low.

Fruit and vegetables will mostly be plentiful, and in some lines we will have an excess supply. No chance of depression in these items can be seen. Nor will there be any excesses in production of eggs, milk, poultry, butter or cheese. In butter and cheese our reserves are not too good.

Belt Tightening Necessary

So you can see plainly this nation is not going to have enough to give Europe much unless we start slinting ourselves. Indeed, the administration farm experts are getting ready to urge Mr. Truman to undertake some kind of campaign to cut down American consumption of foodstuffs. He may wait until later in the year when the crop prospects are more definitely established, but there is every indication here that the administration will embark on a national dieting campaign in connection with its European relief efforts.

Now you frequently read that the exportations of American foodstuffs is what has driven prices up. That is hardly true. The wholesale prices of farm products have not gone up much, at least not nearly as much as the retail prices in the stores. Retail prices are loftier out of line because of the increased cost of labor particularly. The grocer is adding in his labor bill. Wholesales prices of hogs and cattle are up only a little on the exchanges, although the prices of steaks and pork chops are up, tremendously.

The price of wheat is actually down a little from what it was, although a couple of days back it started up again. Certainly the price of corn will firm and probably grow higher, as a result of the weather situation. Indeed, if you count the average of all the commodities destined for your table this year, the price is not likely to go down for the rest of this year and may go higher.

Hollywood the Corespondent?

A Chicago lady has filed suit for divorce, charging that her husband left home to go to a movie in 1942 and still hasn't returned.

She waited a long time before proceedings. She'd never heard of a picture that lasted five years—but she'd seen some that seemed to.

Perhaps she figured it was a musical and he couldn't make up his mind where he came in.

Or maybe a western and he kept hoping the rustler would beat the sheriff to the draw.

At any rate, she finally gave up. A double feature wouldn't last that long...not even "Duel in The Sun" and "Gone With The Wind."

Besides, even if he did come back, she'd hardly know him. A guy can change a lot in five years, especially on a popcorn diet.

So she's gotten a divorce. If he comes home whistling "Have I Been Away Too Long?" the answer's yes.

Incidentally, if he contests the suit, it'll make an interesting case. She can hardly sue a coming attraction for alienation of affections.

Was Roosevelt a Snob?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

JAMES A. FARLEY'S series in "Collier's" raises a familiar charge against the late President Roosevelt—namely, that he cultivated an interest in the common man which, in fact, he did not feel. The inference is that Roosevelt was a snob.

In politics, this is one of the most damaging things that can be said about a man. In itself, it may or may not be important to the nation. In Roosevelt's case, it always seemed irrelevant. His real shortcomings were more important and more harmful to those he professed to serve. Some of them, such as his capricious method of administration, his weakening of traditional constitutional safeguards and his fostering of class feelings, must stand as his major failures. Attacks on his personal and social attitudes and relationships only strengthen his hold on people, because they are so palpably immaterial.

As Defined in Dictionary

A snob is defined in the "Standard Dictionary" as one who "is overbearing to those upon whom he looks as beneath him." Farley's evidence, pieced together, does not attribute to Roosevelt the specifications of this definition. He says Roosevelt rather studiously limited their mutual contacts to routine political matters; that in social affairs the national chairman was not among those present.

But that this was actually due to deliberate choice is not clear. Farley himself said in his book, "Behind the Ballots," written after seven years of close association with Mr. Roosevelt: "There isn't a snobbish bone in his body . . . His friends and companions are not chosen from any particular group or class, and that can be said of the rest of the Roosevelts."

Those who knew Roosevelt well over a long period realized he had a wide range of interests, among which politics was only one. In enjoying those interests he sought special qualities among those with whom he associated. Rex Tugwell interested him greatly because Tugwell talked of novel economic ideas. The late Senator Norris opened another line of interest, Frankfurter, another, and so on.

What might be called purely social contacts were most casual. In mosts cases, they were not a matter of choice but were imposed upon him. They were heterogeneous and sometimes not altogether restful.

A Common Tendency

It is true that Roosevelt had many of the tastes and habits of his background. Everyone does. I don't believe he ever enjoyed baseball. But he enjoyed boat racing. So what!

The point is that a man can serve the public well without sharing the multitudinous interests of everyone. Washington was aristocratic in his manner and preferences. But he served well as a general and statesman. Woodrow Wilson said of Jefferson that he "was only a patron of the people; appealed to the rank and file, believed in them, but shared neither their tastes nor their passions." The same could be truthfully said of Roosevelt.

We may profitably buy in stores whose proprietors live in austere detachment. We read newspapers whose owners are no proletarians. The test is the service performed. And so it should be in judging Roosevelt. What he did to and for this country is important, not how he spent his leisure hours.

America's Offer To Europe

By WALTER LIPPMANN

ON FRIDAY of this week, for the first time since the war, there will be a meeting of foreign ministers of the great powers in which the United States is not a leading participant. Mr. Molotov is coming to Paris at the invitation of Mr. Bevin and M. Bidault, who acted promptly as soon as they understood the controlling idea of Secretary Marshall's Harvard speech—that the United States would henceforth be able to assist in the recovery of Europe only if the leading nations of Europe could agree on how Europe was to use our help effectively.

This is the beginning of a new chapter in the work of settling the war. All the previous conferences have been dominated and determined by a political and an ideological contest between America and Russia. The result has been to compel the European nations, including Great Britain to choose sides. For Russia and America are non-European powers. Though both have vital interests in Europe, neither is by tradition and instinct primarily European and their predominance in the discussions has interfered with the natural tendency of the European peoples to come together.

Unity Necessary

Yet the unity of Europe, at least in the form of economic arrangements, is necessary to peace and recovery. That unity cannot be achieved if the Europeans must always look first to Washington or to Moscow before they talk out their differences with one another. The family life of Europe is not likely to be restored if mother-in-law Russia and Uncle Sam are all over the house all the time.

So we are retiring to a discreet distance, and we are supposing that as a consequence the Russians will begin to draw back also. What reasons are there to think that if we relax our grip on the details of the European settlement that the Russians may eventually follow suit?

There are a number of reasons which may be expected to reinforce each other. For one thing, in offering to assist a united Europe rather than to go on making bilateral agreements of aid with separate governments, we are destroying the whole idea, mostly though not entirely a propagandist's fable, that we have been trying to control Europe with American dollars.

To invite Europe to unite in order that we may assist it, is the surest proof that we do not seek to rule Europe. The principle of aggression and domination is to divide and rule—never, as in Mr. Marshall's Harvard speech, to unite those who need help.

SECOND—We are not only offering to help on the very terms to which no European can take exception—namely that Europe shall control its own destiny—but we are in a position to make that help substantial and decisive. On what grounds can the Kremlin now forbid Poland and Czechoslovakia to participate in the benefits of a program of European recovery? If the Kremlin does forbid them to participate, it will teach its Slavic friends that an alliance with Russia is incompatible with reasonably prompt rehabilitation. Unless, therefore, Moscow is looking for trouble in its own orbit, it cannot afford to deny to its allies the benefits of participation.

Framework

Yet if Poland and Czechoslovakia, the two strongest economic powers in eastern Europe, join with Great Britain and France in formulating a program a framework of European unity, into which the German states can be fitted, will exist.

THIRD—in western Europe—primarily in France, and then Belgium, the Netherlands and Italy—the Communist parties and their near allies cannot oppose or obstruct a European economic agreement without taking the blame for prolonging and aggravating the misery of the people. They cannot say that they are objecting to the new policy because they are against a "western bloc." A policy in which Poland and Czechoslovakia participates is not a western bloc and French or Italian Communists can hardly continue to be more pro-Soviet than the governments which are most closely allied with the Soviet Union.

FOURTH—Under this policy Great Britain must in order to solve its own difficulties play its full part in Europe. As long as we took the initiative in every European discussion, British statesmanship was so preoccupied with us that it could not and did not focus on Europe.

And what if these hopes are dashed, if as we withdraw from the forefront of the conference about Europe, the Russians take the opposite line and begin to throw their weight around more than ever? If they do that, which we may hope they will not, they will demonstrate to the peoples of Europe that it is not America, and the Truman Doctrine, and our getting "tough with Russia," which provoke them but their own decision to rule Europe or to ruin it.

If they take this line, we shall, after the experiment in retirement, come back into Europe with a clearer mandate, a clearer conception of the problem and a new strategical method. It will not then be a question of arguing, or of elaborate indirect devices, as in Greece, for halting the advance of Soviet imperialism, but of positive measures and positive penalties—in the orthodox tradition of diplomacy and power politics—at those critical points where power, not merely influence, will exert its maximum effect.

The idea of cutting taxes has not been abandoned . . . . It's just been interred.

Anyhow there are tiny indications of a return of thrift . . . . A Nebraska woman who shot her husband said it was cheaper than divorce.

And another woman married a man who ran her down with his car. Had she sued she might have got part of his money . . . . This way she got it all.

Both items show the superior thought-processes of the female mind. If there is any doubt about that superiority, who pays the bill for Mother's day and Father's day? Women?

Anyway, congress is going home about July 26 . . . . Most people will be away then and the threat can be accomplished in good order.

The Once Over

PROF. E. M. JELLINEK,
Yale University.
DEAR PROFESSOR:

I have read your article stating that there were more heavy drinking women in grandma's day then there are today and am I laughing! You say that there were more dames crocked in the gay nineties than in the cockeyed forties and you quote figures, but they bounce right off my convictions based on first-hand observation, checks, notations, scenic appearances and general conditions in drinking circles.

I would like to believe you have been exploring the wrong alley or got your statistics out of a hat. And I think this is so unless grandma was a whale of a lot of guzzling out behind the barns and carried her liquor remarkably well. I feel no hesitency in declaring that for every woman who took a swig yesterday there were 100 who take it out of the bottle, bung or jug today. Haven't you been digging among the wrong grandmas, doctor?

Nobody who pays a casual visit to the bistro will agree with you, especially if he got around much in the old days when the saloon was strictly male except for a back entrance where the town hussies would sneak in.

In my grandma's day a female in a barroom was strictly unique, extraordinary, declasse and a bum. A woman could get talked about for creeping to within 300 yards of a beer barrel at a beach picnic. Many a girl lost her rep for being seen with a man who had an alcoholic breath. If grandpa going to Toole & McGinn's for a snifter ever saw grandma and Aunt Aggie standing at the bar and demanding a heavy slug in the next one he would have yelled for the cops, the family doctor and a closed hack.

Why, Prof. Jellinek, there weren't even enough places in grandma's day to take care of the hordes of female guzzlers of today. And she couldn't drink much at home on account of the old-fashioned pantry wasn't designed to hold the essential bottles, demijohns, shakers, etc. She had to have a little room for eating utensils.

And whose grandma did you ever see posing for newspaper pictures with a slug of hooch in her hand at the leading grill? I defy you to dig up a grandma who in her girlish era ever accepted an award as Miss Somebody's Ale or let her face appear on the billboards in full colors to boost a gin.

Pull yourself together, professor, before you tell me that Whistler's Mother had a rumpus room, that the Old Oaken Bucket hung in the still and that The Face on the Barroom Floor was the theme song in every old-fashioned cottage. (And no claiming that mommer darned the socks while half crocked, raised all those kids while shaking up drinks and crawled around the old homestead baking pies on her hands and knees.)

I know better. And what is more, doctor, many of those grandmothers were around then would make you eat your words, run you ragged among the elms of the Yale campus and maybe you issue a complete denial from the roof of Mory's College Ale House.

Correction, please, before it is too late.

Yours,
ELMER.

SEES LOCAL TAX BURDEN EASED

Glander Says Assembly Goes Part Way in Accepting State Program.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 24 — C. Emery Glander, Ohio tax commissioner, said today that partial acceptance by the last general assembly of his department's recommendations for revision of the state tax system was "a definite step in the right direction" toward easing the financial burdens of local governments.

"How well it will work, how adequate it will be, I shall not now predict," Glander said in an address at the 15th annual conference of the National Association of Tax Administrators.

A "re-examination of Ohio's tax and revenue was made imperative," he said, "by increasing dissatisfaction in many quarters" after an Ohio supreme court decision invalidating a consumers' utility tax levied by the city of Youngstown "also rendered invalid similar taxes levied by Columbus and other cities in Ohio."

Cities Frustrated

While the decision is undoubtedly sound as a matter of law," Glander continued, "the fact remains that commendable municipal efforts to be self-reliant were frustrated."

Glander said the recommendations followed a "middle-of-the-road" approach to taxation coordination which "contemplates the exercise of a larger measure of local taxing power, with reliance on grants-in-aid to provide the balance of essential local needs."

The tax commissioner said local governments were ajded financially by these recommendations accepted by the legislature:

▸Reenactment of expiring tax levies, including the cigaret and one-cent liquid fuel excise taxes which produce $17,500,000 annually.

▸Vacation by the state of the admissions tax field and delegation to municipalities the right to levy admissions taxes at whatever rate they may determine.

▸Allocation of all proceeds of cigaret dealers license tax to local governments.

▸Allocation to the counties of origin of intangible property tax on deposits, share or capital of financial institutions and on shares or capital of dealers in intangibles.

▸Permission to school districts to participate in additional state aid even though tax levies in such districts were not 10 mills for all purposes.

▸Allocation to counties, on a formula based on population and tax valuation, of approximately $12,000,000 annually to be taken from sales tax revenues during the current biennium.

Recommendations rejected by the general assembly he said, included: permission to municipalities to exercise the right to levy consumers' utility taxes; reallocation of the local 50 per cent share of inheritance tax; provision for the levy of taxes outside the 10-mill limitation and for issuance of bonds by majority vote instead of the present 65 per cent requirement; substitution of a severance tax for the present ad valorem tax on all natural resources now taxed as real property, and assumption by the state of the entire cost of maintaining the courts of common pleas and appeals.

STOCKS TURN DOWN IN PROFIT CASHING

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 24—Profit cashing turned the stock market downward today despite intermittent buying of selected rails and industrials.

Belief that overriding by the senate of the labor bill veto has been largely discounted marketwise caused professionals and customers to trim holdings. Some offerings were based on the thought that the recent bulge was a technical correction of the lengthy spring retreat and that more bullish news would be necessary to extend the advance. Short covering and timid investment demand again was bolstering factor.

In the resistant area were Pennsylvania railroad, Baltimore & Ohio, American Telephone, Caterpillar Tractor and Johns-Manville.

Laggards included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Oliver Corp., Deere, Glenn Martin, Anaconda, American Smelting, International Paper, Standard Oil (NJ), Norfolk & Western and Southern Railway.

government powers rather than discourage them."

Governor Herbert explained to reporters that it was "not in the concept" of the governor's office to police the state.

Declaring he was not "agitating" for a change in laws, which would restore to his office the power of removal over sheriffs and other county officers, Governor Herbert declared:

"In the long run, people get the kind of government they want."

Liquor Department Checks

He said he had instructed the state department of liquor control to check the Logan county resort to see if any of the gambling devices were operating in establishments holding state liquor permits.

"We haven't been able to find any," he said.

The Springfield newspaper reported 76 slot machines were counted at Indian lake last weekend, compared to 46 Saturday, June, June 14. It asserted the devices were being played by children as well as adults.

From Logan County Sheriff Ellsworth Palmer the paper obtained the statement that "it's up to the local authorities." From Mrs. O. M. Tait, wife of the village marshal, the paper said it received a telephone refusal to locate her husband, adding:

"He's too busy for your call. There are too many fights up here."

LABOR LAW

called the bill a "milestone in American industrial history" and said it would contribute to industrial peace.

Lewis Silent

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (AFL) declined to comment on the spreading wildcat strikes in the coal fields. Nor did top level officials of the AFL and CIO give any immediate encouragement to talk of a general strike. In previous instances, such talk has met with a rebuff from AFL and CIO leaders.

It was not unusual for coal miners to jump thegun when approaching a contract expiration, even without the incentive of an unwelcome law. Lewis' present contract with the government expires at midnight June 30 when the seized mines revert to private operation. The agreement allows the miners to begin a 10-day vacation Saturday.

A coal contract dispute may put the new law to its first test and show whether the emergency machinery will work against Lewis' well-disciplined miners. Rep. Fred A. Hartley, (R.), N. J., co-author of the law, said today that the act would not be "completely effective" in preventing a mine strike.

The law carries a provision allowing the government to obtain 80-day injunctions against strikes imperilling public health and safety. It does not, however, provide any authority that would force miners of any other workers to work against their will.

Protest Strikes Mushroom Over U. S.

By The United Press

PITTSBURGH, June 24—Scattered protest strikes which started within an hour after the senate overrode President Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley labor bill mushroomed into a full-scale walkout of 23,000 miners in the nation's soft coal fields today.

At least 41 mines were closed in Alabama, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and eastern Ohio. Many of the struck mines were captive pits, threatening an early cutback in steel production.

Government officials in Washington had estimated previously that a work stoppage in the mines would curtail industrial production drastically within three weeks. The nation's soft coal reserves were the lowest on record, they said.

Spokesmen for the operators said the walkouts appeared to be spontaneous. However, spokesmen for West Virginia operators expressed fear that the walkouts might set off a chain reaction that eventually would affect all 11,000 miners in that state.

General Strike In Week Forecast

By The United Press

A union spokesman predicted today that 90 per cent of organized labor would go on a protest strike within a week against the Taft-Hartley law and both labor and management promised an early test of the constitutionality of the measure.

R. E. Farr, Birmingham, Ala., district president of the CIO United Steel Workers, predicted the protest strike. Only an early test of the constitutionality of the bill will delay a general strike, he said.

The San Francisco CIO council asked CIO President Philip Murray to call a 24-hour nationwide stoppage in protest against the "slave law."

Harry Brides, militant leader of the CIO Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union on the west coast, warned that his union would "fight back by organizing, striking and picketing" if employers attempted to use the bill to deny workers their rights.

BEVIN TO PROPOSE ALL-EUROPE PARLEY

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 24 — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, an authoritative source said today, is expected to propose to the French and Russian foreign ministers in Paris Friday that the three nations sponsor an all-European conference on the American aid-to-Europe plan.

A foreign office spokesman said that Bevin would confer later in the day with William L. Clayotn, U. S. undersecretary of state, and it was understood they would discuss this proposal at that time.

Clayton, who arrived in England Sunday, met Bevin this morning at No. 10 Downing street, where he conferred for 90 minutes with Prime Minister Attlee and other top British leaders. Others present included chancellor of the exchequer Hugh Dalton, Sir Stafford Crips, president of the board of trade; Sir Edmund Hall-Patch, chief of the foreign office's economic affairs department, and U. S. Embassador Lewis Douglas.

OHIO MINES

vacation period begins June 28 and is for ten days.

"The representatives of the union will use whatever machinery is necessary to work out a wage scale agreement if possible to do so.

"There must be a shorter work day, the welfare and retirement fund must be included, proper wages must be agreed to, and working conditions must be improved.

Future Not Predicted

"Just what will happen in the event there is no agreement by July 7, I am unable to say at this time."

Spokesmen for the miners who requested anonymity predicted that the work stoppage would spread to other coal mines in the southeastern Ohio field during the day.

At the Powhatan company's No. 1 mine at Powhatan Point, O., the 600 miners who stopped work here were described as so angered over the congressional action that they had taken their work clothes and tools home. Customarily the workers leave their clothes and tools in a building at the mine.

Production Called Greatest U. S. Need

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24 — Charles E. Wilson, president General Motors, told congress today that what the nation needs most is "continuous, uninterrupted, efficient production."

And to make that possible, he said, the nation "must be protected from x x x monopolistic strikes that paralyze whole vital industries or shut down one important community after another."

"The majority of the people of our country recognize this truth and an important step in this direction has just been taken by congress," he added, obviously referring to enactment of the Taft-Hartley labor bill which contains provisions designed to block "national paralysis" strikes.

Wilson outlined his views in a statement to the joint congressional committee on the economic report.

AMERICANS DRINK LESS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—The Distilled Spirits Institute reported today that Americans drank 30 per cent less whisky, gin, rum and brandy during the first four months of this year than they did in the same months of 1946.

RUSSIA USES SHIPS BUILT FOR AMERICA

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24 — Chairman Weichel (R-Ohio) said today the house merchant marine committee has learned that Soviet-operated tankers carrying oil from this country to Russia were built for the U. S. government only a few years ago.

One of them, he said, sailed from California less than two weeks ago with 123,895 barrels of gasoline and 12,500 barrels of oil, and two others left earlier this month with 113,000 barrels of oil.

Three more, Weichel told a reporter, are loading in California ports and may depart before export controls are restored on petroleum products effective June 30.

The commerce department, announcing reimposition of the controls last night, explained:

"Export control is necessary if the limited domestic supply is to be protected and U. S. petroleum exports are to be used most effectively in the interest of world recovery." The controls were lifted soon after V-J day. They apply to all nations except Canada.

The government's authority to control exports runs out next Monday midnight, but an extension bill is pending in congress.

Weichel said the consignor for all six of the tankers on the west coast is the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Soviet purchasing agency, which bought the oil from several large United States companies.

ASKS RETENTION OF RAILWAY BENEFITS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24 — Chairman William J. Kennedy of the railroad retirement board urged today retention of sickness and maternity benefits in the railroad unemployment compensation act.

Kennedy outlined the board's position in a letter to Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the senate labor committee. Labor subcommittee has under study a bill which would repeal provision for benfits for sickness and injury not connected with employment.

These benefits were added to the law last year. The repealer would become effective July 1.

"The sickness insurance program means more to the railroad employes than to employes of most other industries for the reason that they have a much higher rate of disability from sickness and accidents," Kennedy said in the letter to Taft.

"This is evidenced by the fact that group insurance rates for health and accident policies are much higher in the railroad than in most other industres.

"If the sick benefit program were repealed, it would make the railroad employes the only large group of workers in the United States for whom the economic security system would be reduced through legislative action," he continued.

J. W. Orpin, speaking for President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said in a similar statement that the bill should not be enacted.

New President Named By Trustees of Case

CLEVELAND, June 24—Selection of T. Keith Glennan, 41, now an executive of Ansco Division of General Aniline & Film Corporation, Binghamton, N. Y. and wartime director of the U. S. Navy Underwater Sound Laboratory, as president of Case Institute of Technology was announced today by Frank A. Qail, following a meeting of the board of trustees of which he is chairman.

Glennan will be the first business executive to head the Cleveland engineering school, which has had but three presidents since its establishment 67 years ago as Case School of Applied Science and which is adopting its new name on July 1. He succeeds Dr. William E. Wickenden who retires on September 1, after 18 years of service.

STAG GOLF AND FISH FRY SET AT COUNTRY CLUB

About 80 Expected To Participate in Event.

About 80 golfers are expected to participate in the stag day golfing and annual fish fry at the Country club tomorrow.

If the weather holds, it will be the first time that conditions have been suitable for an intra-club match. Bill Alves, club pro, commented that during the muddy season about 40 golfers could be expected for an event, and that tomorrow should give a good indication as to what kind of turnouts can be expected through the rest of the season.

No definite type of tournament had been set up by the golf committee this morning. Usually some method whereby the duffer can stay in the running with the expert is worked out, Alves said.

The fish fry will be held outdoors following golfing.

LABOR BOARD

outlaws the closed shop; permits the union shop only when a majority of workers vote for it; prohibits jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts; makes unions liable for unfair labor practices and subject to damage suits.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the senate labor committee, told reporters "one of the first things we must do" is provide more money for the NLRB.

Senator Ives (R-NY), also a member of the labor committee, estimated that the board's pending appropriation for the year starting July 1 "probably will have to be at least doubled." That would give the agency about $9,000,000.

President Truman originally asked $7,984,000 for the NLRB next year. The house cut this figure to barely $4,000,000 but the senate agreed to $4,974,700.

Senator Ball (R-Minn), a member of the appropriations committee as well as the labor group, said the board "will get whatever it needs to carry out its added responsibilities."

All of these senators predicted, too, that congress will back up with all the money it needs the new federal mediation agency created by the Taft-Hartley act.

SEES LABOR BILL THIRD PARTY BOON

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 24—Enactment of the Taft-Hartley labor law over President Truman's veto brought disputed predictions today of a third party movement and possible Republican loss of the organized labor vote.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) told a reporter he thinks "tremendous impetus" was given the fledging third party movement by the senate's 68 to 25 vote yesterday smothering Mr. Truman's veto.

"Political history has been written here," Pepper declared. "Congress has done more than Henry Wallace ever did to give lift to a third party.

"We have seen a demonstration that neither party can muster a majority in congress for liberal proposals.

"Nobody but intellectual liberals have been interested in a third party up to now, but if the working people feel that their rights aren't going to be protected they may make a third party movement a vital affair."

VINDICATION, NOT PAROLE, OHIOAN'S AIM

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—After 17 years, Edward Black, now 51, valued vindication more than freedom.

Raymond Younger, chairman of the Ohio pardon and parole commission, disclosed that the Cincinnati man should have been among London prison farm inmates granted paroles today, but at Black's own request, his case was continued "to the maximum" —35 more months.

Black, charged with second degree murder in the slaying June 16, 1929, of a love rival, Charles E. Smith, was convicted of manslaughter and given a 10-to-20-year sentence by Common Pleas Judge Thomas Morrow in Cincinnati.

Judge Younger said that somehow the man got the idea that the sentence was three years and a day. When the commission heard his case last week, Black insisted that he had been "illegally held" since 1933.

"He emphatically refused a parole," Judge Younger said. "He had no previous criminal record and he had no lost time because of bad behavior.

"We would have given him his parole without another question, but he insisted he wanted vindication. The commission could only accommodate him by continuing the case to the maximum."

Although Black's only apparent hope would be for Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to grant him a pardon or commute his sentence somehow, Judge Younger said Black made no such demand.

Court Takes GI Suit Under Consideration

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—U. S. District Judge Mell G. Underwood had under consideration today the question whether the GI bill of rights conflicted with seniority rules of the Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

After heated arguments yesterday, the court directed counsel to file briefs and proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law within five weeks.

The back pay claims of five Cambridge, O., pottery workers were supported by government counsel which contended the men were entitled to union contract pay increases and promotions even though they were absent fighting a war.

Attorneys for the company Universal Potteries, Inc., of Cambridge, and the union argued that military leaves of absence were not working time and that skill acquired only through three years actual working time could raise a man from apprentice to journeyman in the trade.

Ferrier and Harbert Win in Semi-Finals

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 24—Long Jim Ferrier, quiet-spoken Australian, and Melvin (Chick) Harbert, sunburned home-bred, rode decisive semi-final victories into the 36-hole finals of the week-long national PGA golf championship here today.

Ferrier, deadly with his iron shots and requiring only 61 putts for the 27 holes, swept into the championship round with a record-equalling 10 and 9 semi-final victory over Art Bell, serious-faced Colma, Calif., pro, in which Ferrier went the 27-holes in 99 strokes, nine shots under par.

Ulmer, Milgate Vows Spoken at Lutheran Church

In a candle light ceremony at Emanuel Lutheran church Saturday forenoon, Miss Betty Anna Ulmer, daughter of Mrs. Helen Ulmer of 445 Forest street, and R. I. Ulmer of Shelby, became the bride of William Bruce Milgate, son of Mrs. Goldie Milgate of North State street. The double ring service was read by Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor. Closed church was observed for the wedding.

An aqua street length dress in crepe was chosen by the bride for her wedding, and she wore a fine white horsehair open crown hat. The dress was fashioned with lace panels over the shoulders, and the hat's open brim was caught with a shirred aqua ribbon forming a rosette, and to the sides was fastened a short white silk net bridal veil. Accessories in silver completed the costume.

A pink tatting handkerchief, which had been a gift from her maternal great grandmother, the late Mrs. Catherine Altaffer of Crestline, was carried by Miss Ulmer and she wore the traditional sixpence in her shoe. She carried a white, gold-edged engraved Bible, a gift from her mother, and a two-toned purple throated orchid with purple satin streamers.

Miss Janet Ulmer was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a beige crepe street length dress and a brown silk crepe covered hat with large brown net bow in the back, accented with small yellow flowers. Her accessories were in yellow, and her corsage was of yellow carnations. Bridesmaid was Miss Jean Quackenbush, who wore a navy colored dress with a large pink horsehair hat with pink bow and streamers down the back, and pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Carl Jenero of Marion was best man for the bridegroom. The bride's gifts to her attendants were earrings, and Mr. Milgate's gift to Mr. Jenero was a silver cigaret lighter.

Mrs. Ulmer, mother of the bride, was costumed in a yellow gabardine suit, and she wore a large, blact felt hat with drape of luggage tan and black silk crepe at the back. Her accessories were in gold, and her corsage was gardenias. Mrs. Milgate was attired in a powder blue dress and she wore a black hat with white trimming. White accessories and gardenia corsage completed her costume.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Hugh Brown of Crestline, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLaughlin of Mansfield. Mrs. McLaughlin is a cousin of the bride.

The couple left on a short wedding trip, and Mrs. Milgate wore a green suit with her wedding orchid as her corsage. They will make their home in an apartment on Forest street. woman who has followed his action in the 80th congress to bridle the American people."

Passage of the bill was viewed by AFL Vice President Matthew Woll as a "grave crisis," he said, "to awaken the working people of this nation, and certainly nothing has done that better than this legislation."

D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said in a statement:

Under the guise of seeking moderation, congress has persecuted and shackled labor and has taken the longest step in its history toward wiping out what for many years we have all been proud to call American democracy."

COUNCIL PLANS STREET WORK

Authorizes Receiving of Bids for Resurfacing and Oiling.

Business of a routine nature was acted on when city council met Monday night. Ordinances were adopted transferring two lots from residential to commercial zones. A lot at 271 Fairview avenue will be used for a wallpaper and paint store, and one on Chicago avenue for a tin shop.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the safety-service director to accept $7.50 from the Marion Water Co. in payment for damage to a police motorcycle caused when the motorcycle struck a hole resulting from excavations by water company employes.

The safety-service director was authorized to advertise for bids for oiling and resurfacing streets, alleys and parking spaces in the city as a result of an ordinance adopted by council. This will be for the annual summer maintenance work on city streets. Council adopted a resolution authorizing the city solicitor to pay a salary of $45 a week to a law student who will be hired by the city to make a preliminary study prior to recodification of city laws. Action in the program was taken at a previous council meeting.

As a result of an ordinance adopted $200 was set aside for payment of interest on the Marion City hospital note.

Fund for Sewage Plant

A sum of $270,000 was earmarked for work on the city sewage treatment works as a result of an ordinance adopted. A report on proposed improvements in the plant were given by E. O. Uncapher, safety service director, in a preliminary report during the June 12 council meeting.

Several petitions for action by council were read. A petition by property owners for construction of a sanitary sewer in Fairview street east to a point 450 feet from Bryant street or as far as the grade will permit, in North State from Fairview to Hecker, in North State south from Fairview to Hazen and in Bryant from Fairview to Hecker was referred to the sanitary and sewer committee. Council referred to the street and alley committee a petition from property owners to vacate the first alley north of Indiana avenue running east from Kenmore avenue. The petition states the alley has never been opened for public use.

Street Vacation Asked

Also referred to the street and alley committee was a petition of the Erie railroad for vacation of streets entering the railroad right-of-way south of Quarry street including Ballentine avenue and Patterson street.

The report on hardness of city water for the period ended June 21 showed a high of 7.1 grains and a low of 5.2.

Councilman D. R. Biggert asked for city action to relieve dust conditions on Windsor street between Carner and Thew avenues.

Representatives of West Center street property owners present were advised by Edwin B. Spohn, city solicitor, that a excessive dust resulting from placement of blowers at the American Malleable Casting Co. had been remedied by the company.

The automobile industry consumes 18 per cent of the American steel output, or more than the nation's railroads use.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backaches and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GOVERNOR SIGNS NEW PENSION BILL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 24—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today signed into law a bill designed to place police and firemen's pension systems on a solvency basis and announced he would approve the $125,000,000 additions and betterments bill without vetoing any items.

The police and firemen's pension bill doubles the present contributions of police and firemen, makes it mandatory that municipalities levy a three-tenths of a mill tax to support the pension funds and makes a state contribution of $1,600,000 to guarantee immediate solvency of such funds.

The governor said he would sign the additions and betterments bill as it came to him only because it gives the controlling board control over the expenditures of all funds. No money can be spent on any project until the controlling board gives its approval.

"If it were not for that provision of the bill, I might have registered my disapproval of several items in the bill," the governor said.

The additions and betterments bill appropriates $71,297,864 in new money and re-appropriates about $54,000,000 for similar purposed appropriated by the previous legislature.

Other bills approved by the governor today included the following:

Giving the highway patrol jurisdiction on state highways running through municipalities.

Appropriating $80,000 for Ohio's participation in Liberia's centennial celebration.

Authorizing the shooting of domestic fowls in field trials.

Authorizing municipalities to construct swimming pools outside their corporate limits.

Providing for a county and township zoning system.

Authorizing counties to give financial aid to local historical societies.

Authorizing county boards of education to reduce the number of school districts within a county.

Authorizing municipalities to levy special assessments for the care of shade trees.

Authorizing county commissioners to do force account road repairs up to $1,000 without advertising for bids.

CUBS DROP DOUBLEHEADER TO SPRINGFIELD 8 TO 7, 19 TO 1

Burbrink Takes Mound After 24 Giants Bat in One Inning

Special to The Star

SPRINGFIELD, June 24—The Springfield Giants stopped Marion's Cubs twice, 8-7 and 19-1, in the first games between the two clubs here this season, at the stadium Monday night.

In the opener, the teams traded single markers in the first frame and each had four-run second innings before Marion put together hits by Nelson and Hollingshead for a 6-5 edge in the third frame.

Hits by Bill Scally and Don Ramsay knotted the count in the fifth with the Cubs producing another run in the eighth on Smith's single, a sacrifice and a single by Shuford.

The Giants came gack to win in the bottom of that stanza when Vince O'Grady walked and Bill Metral lined his fourth homer of the season over the left-center field fence.

The Giants backed lefty Bill Byham's nine-hit pitching with a 20-hit attack in the nightcap, with Ben Haddix rapping out five and Scally four for the winners. Nelson had four for the Cubs.

The Giants sent 14 hitters to the plate in a big eighth inning with 10 scoring to chase Lawrence from the mound. Nelson Burbrink finally had to shed his catching togs and put out the fire.

Doubles by Hollingshead and Bobzean in the seventh robbed Byham of a shutout.

Riggs and Bridge Win Doubles Championship

By The Associated Press

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 24—Bobby Riggs of Ferndale, N. Y., and Donald Budge of Oakland, Calif., finalists in the singles competition, are the new doubles champions of the national professional tennis league.

Riggs, who outlasted Budge in Sunday's singles finals to retain his title, teamed with Budge yesterday to wrest the doubles crown from Frank Kovacs and Fred Perry in four hard-fought sets, winning 7-5, 9-7, 4-6, 11-9.

Two Wins Move Springfield Into First Division

By The Associated Press

The Springfield Giants moved up today into the first division of the Ohio State Baseball league standings thanks to a five-game winning streak.

The Giants scored a doubleheader victory over Marion at Springfield last night 8-7 and 19-1.

Newark dropped a doubleheader at Richmond and slipped from third to fifth in the standings. The Roses won the first game with a barrage of 16 hits 10-2, Richmond won the second game 8-4 with the aid of Newarks errors.

Zanesville further strengthened its tight hold on first place with a 10-7 victory over the Packers at Muncie. The teams went into the ninth with a 7-7 tie which the Dodgers broke with three passes, a fielder's choice, a single and a Muncie infield error. Leonard Lamont, Muncie first sacker, suffered a cracked wrist bone and will be out of play for at least two weeks.

Lima upset the Indians at Dayton 8-5. Jack Malsch, Lima first baseman, batted in the tying and winning runs in the ninth inning.

Richmond Player Threatens To Take Lead from Burbrink

Increasing his average 24 points during the week, Richmond's Bob Verrier moved within striking distance of Nelson Burbrink, consistent pace setter over the past weeks among the Ohio State League batters.

According to figures compiled by the Howe News Bureau, the 25-year-old Marion manager-catcher spiralled down 10 points to .414 while Verrier climbed to .410, well ahead of teammate Rex Carr with .371 and last week's runnerup Jack Malsch of Lima with .355.

But Burbrink's leadership in four specialized hitting divisions was unmolested as he continued to set the pace with 60 hits, 91 total bases, five four masters, and 48 runs driven in.

Maisch is first in doubles with 14, Bob Barthdlomew, Zanesville outfielder, has stolen the most bases, 21, and Newark's Chuck Hopkins retained the lead in triples with six to his credit. Gene Bobzean has tallied most frequently 41 times. In three efforts during the week Sanford Lambert, Zanesville southpaw racked up a pair of wins and paces the hurling brigade with eight wins and two losses. On June 17, Tony West fanned 13 hitters as his Springfield mates countered 15 runs to Newark's two.

The Cubs top the league in team fielding, but are sixth in batting.

INJURY FORCES BOUDREAU OUT OF INDIANS LINEUP

Possible Cracked Ankle To Lay Him Up for Week or 10 Days.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 24 — The Cleveland Indians will be without the services of manager Lou Boudreau and the American league's leading batter for ten days or two weeks.

The stellar shortstop suffered a possible cracked ankle in a collision at first base in the sixth inning of yesterday's game with the Yankees. The Tribe manager was hobblinfg on a cane today while awaiting X-ray reports.

The Indians lost the game, 8 to 5, so all in all it was a bad day for the Tribesmen.

The Tribe had a 4 to 3 lead in the sixth as the result of Les Fleming's first homer of the season with two on base in the fourth, but the Yankees put the game on ice when Tommy Henrich rapped a three-run double with two out in the eighth.

Boudreau tangled with Yank pitcher Charley Wensloff on a close play at first. He spiked Wensloff on the heel and sent him to the first aid room where three stitches were required to close the wound. Boudreau turned his ankle. He went to the shortstop position when the Yankees came to bat in the sixth but couldn't stick it out and Jack Conway replaced him.

Ed Kleiman, who entered the game as a replacement for Don Black, fielded a slow roller down the first base line in the sixth and collided with Snuffy Stirnweiss as he tagged him for the last out. Klieman was helped to his feet, his glasses shattered and a cut under his right eye that had to be closed by a stitch.

Boudreau collected two hits in three times at bat before he was forced out and boosted his league leading average to .346.

Al Gettel will start for the Indians in the second game of the series tonight. Frank Shea, Yankee rookie who has won eight and lost two, probably will oppose him.

Roseberry Wins 9th in 10 Starts

Joe Roseberry, Marion boy now pitching for the Winston-Salem Cardinals of the Carolina league, recently won his ninth victory in 10 starts by whipping Raleigh 15 to 4. Joe got plenty of help from two other former Marion players. Walter Lammers slashed out three hits and Leo Perini hit a home run. Joe got two hits to aid his own cause.

Roseberry was recently fined $10 by the league president for a runin with the umpires in the game he lost. "Zip" Payne, manager of the Cards, was fined $50 in the same melee. Joe and Payne had disagreed with the umpires when a balk was called on him.

Welter Title "Go" on WMRN Tonight

Welterweight champion Ray "Sugar" Robinson (above) tonight for the first time defends his title at Cleveland Arena, Cleveland, Ohio. Hoping to ascend the throne is Jimmy Doyle, classy Californian.

Robinson won his crown by defeating Tommy Bell in New York last December. Since then the "Sugar" has confined his ring activities to overweight contests. Ray is as elusive as a phantom and hits like chained lightning.

Meeting Doyle, however, may prove tough for the champ. Jimmy possesses plenty of courage and a good left jab. His extraordinary skill at picking off punches in mid-air, his feinting, make it hard for an opponent to sink a solid shot. Also he boxes right out of the book.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WMRN (1490 on your dial) at 9 p. m.

And remember, men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

CLOSE PLAY MARKS MOST CONTESTS IN SOFTBALL LEAGUE

St. Mary No. 1 Stays Up with Win Over First Presbyterian Team.

For the second straight Monday close play marked Sunday school league softball games.

St. Mary 1 put together a triple by Myers, three walks, one error, and a timely single by Greenland in the fifth to erase a deficit and down First Presbyterian 6-5.

The victory was sorely needed as Trinity, their partner on the top of the heap, clouted out a 13-2 win over United Brethren. French was the big gun of the attack with a pair of singles and a home run. K. Somerlot hit safely three times and M. Gorby and Johnson duplicated French's home run feat.

Forest Lawn kept Greenwood from crashing into the win column stopping them 6-5 in nine innings. Snyder got on via error and Myers drove him in with a long triple. Taylor of Greenwood hit a home run in the fifth frame.

Epworth got three hits resulting in two runs in the last of the seventh to quell a St. Mary 2 uprising and wine 8-7. R. Roseberry and Lyons hit safely three times and J. Moloney got three bingles for the losers.

Fans Blame Sale of Greenberg for Plight of Hapless Tigers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyal Detroit followers wonder whether their clawless Tigers wouldn't be in a higher position today if they still had last year's American league home run king, Hank Greenberg.

With Pat Mullin, their early season sensation, slumping to a below .300 mark, no one of the Tigers can match Greenberg's figures.

A year ago today, Greenberg had clouted 16 home runs for the Tigers, almost half Detroit's entire total of 35 this season. That was the big reason besides the brilliant pitching of Hal Newhouser why the Tigers were in third place.

The faltering Tigers could put together only two runs on six hits yesterday as they went down to their 10th straight defeat when the Boston Red Sox walloped them 8-2 at Fenway park behind Denny Galehouse.

The front running New York Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 8-5 at the Yankee Stadium.

The White Sox continued to plague the Washington Senators by defeating them for the ninth time in 10 meetings 10-6 in a night game at Washington. Bob Kennedy's three-run homer highlighted a seven-run ninth inning against Early Wynn and enabled veteran Thorton Lee to walk off with the decision.

With Enos Slaughter batting in four runs and Terry Moore getting two hits in his first two times at bat to extend his hitting streak to nine straight, the Red hot St. Louis Cardinals trounced the National League leading Boston Braves 6-2 in a night game at St. Louis.

The Chicago Cubs handed Mort Cooper his second straight lacing since the veteran righthander joined the Giants by shelling him from the mound with a four-run seventh and defeated the Giants 6-3. The win moved the Cubs to within a half game of the third place Giants.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, the Philadelphia Phillies, Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates were idle in the National league. Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American league had a day off.

Association Race Still in Scramble

By The Associated Press

The madcap scramble for first division spots in the American Association was still in swing today.

Kansas City maintained a four-game lead after fog forced its home game with St. Paul to be called last night in the 8th with the score tied 8-8.

Indianapolis bounced to the runner-up position by downing Toledo 5 to 3 to sweep the three-game series. Trailing 2-1, the Indians collected three runs in the seventh with the aid of Ernie Andres' homer with one aboard and added another marker in the eighth to round off a 13-hit assault against Earl Jones.

Milwaukee regained fourth place by sweeping a doubleheader from Minneapolis, 8-7 and 4-3. Tommy Neill doubled home two runs and then scored himself on Wes Westrum's second passed ball to decide the opener. In the nightcap, called in the eighth because of a local curfew, Max Macon singled in Steve Roser with the winning run.

Columbus knocked off Louisville 2-1 in 14 innings behind the six-hit pitching of Otie Clark. A wild pitch by Al Widmar, who relieved Earl Toolson after eight innings, let in Mike Natisin with the winning run in the 14th.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'LL probably be in Mary's room when you come back from the postoffice," I told my impatient husband. 'Come in to see her, for a second or two at least."

"I'll do that," he agreed, as he took his hat and topcoat from the hall closet. "Bye, now!"

I blew him a kiss in lieu of words, and sitting down for a few minutes' respite at my desk, I concocted a luncheon menu which I thought might appeal to Mary. Then I telephoned the order to Room Service, that there might be plenty of time to prepare one special dish, and with slow steps, for I dreaded facing Mary again, I went back into the bedroom.

To my relief, Mary was sitting up in her big armchair, and was playing solitaire on a bridge table set up before her. The flush had faded from her face, and she looked a hundred per cent better than she had done at the end of the study period in which she had conquered the memorizing of the first two lines of her role in my new play.

"Your scheduled treatment evidently worked," I told Katharine.

"Yes, she reacted beautifully," Katharine answered with a smile.

Then her brows contracted as Mary put a quick, feverish question.

"Did you get that letter written?" she asked, and I saw Katharine's eyes watching her narrowly.

On His Way

"Yes, and your Uncle Dicky is on his way to the main postoffice with it. It should reach its destination tonight, or tomorrow morning at the latest."

Mary apparently studied the cards in her hand for a second, then raised her eyes to mine.

"A day to go, another day to come back," she said. "That ought to bring an answer day after tomorrow. Forty-eight hours! Well, what's the difference? I know what the answer will be anyway."

"I'm sure I know also," I told her, as Katharine's eyebrows arched upward. "But our answers are different."

"I hope they are," Mary said, "and I hope yours is right. So we'll let it go at that. Aunt Katharine says I may study some more after luncheon if I eat a good one, so I'm counting on your 'surprise' being all that you promised."

"If it isn't," I told her with purposeful extravagance, "I'll eat your solitaire cards."

Hollow Sound

"Enter Aunt Katharine and a stomach pump," she quipped, laughing, although the sound was hollow, and I turned to Katharine.

"Dicky wants to say hello to Mary as soon as he gets back from the postoffice," I said.

She eyed Mary speculatively, then looked at her wrist watch.

"Has he had breakfast?" she asked.

"Not yet."

"I know what men are when they're hungry," she said, "although Jack's quite a lamb."

"Dicky more resembles a roaring lion," I said with a reminiscent grin.

"Do you think he could keep his roar throttled down for a half hour?" Katharine queried.

"I am sure he could, in a good cause," I told her.

Delay Breakfast

"Couldn't be a better one," she said. "If he can delay his breakfast for thirty minutes, and you can advance your luncheon for the same time, I don't see any reason why Mary and her uncle couldn't eat breakfast together—that is, if Mary is willing."

I knew that Katharine was anxious to divert Mary's mind in any way possible, but I also knew that she was waiting as dubiously and as anxiously as I for Mary's reaction to her proposal.

And we were both agreeably surprised when Mary gave a hoot of delight.

'Luncheon with Uncle Dicky!" she cried. "I can't think of anything more glorious! But," with sudden politeness, "you two will be here also, won't you?"

"No," Katharine said decidedly. "This will be a towsome. Your aunt and I will eat in the sitting room and watch, so that we can flag anybody who might be jealous of your uncle's privilege."
